Weible Divorce Financial Solutions

What is a CDFA®? Certified Divorce Financial Analyst

CDFA Professionals can help you, the lawyer, and your clients to create financial settlements that work – both now and in the future.

All assets are NOT created equal: which “half” of the marital property your client receives makes all the difference! Can your client afford to accept the proposed settlement?

How can a CDFA help a family lawyer?

- Complete the detailed financial work for the lawyer, making case preparation and settlement easier
- Work as a consultant or expert witness
- Analyze the financial implications of different divorce settlement proposals
- Produce powerful case exhibits in the form of spreadsheets and graphs

A CDFA can help the client understand:

- Short-term & long-term financial impact of different settlement proposals
- Separate vs Marital property
- Valuing & dividing property
- Debt, credit, and bankruptcy
- Retirement & pensions
- Spousal & child support
- Options for the Matrimonial Home
- Tax problems and solutions

A CDFA professional can help lawyers achieve the fairest, most financially equitable divorce settlement possible for their clients.
